

He was at the Grand Saturday Night as "Uncle Tom."

The Grand was well filled Saturday evening, ostensibly to witness the time-worn play, "Uncle Tom," but really to see Peter Jackson, the noted colored juggler, who is to go into the ring against Jim Corbett, to contest for the championship of the world. The company went through the scenes of the
"Uncle Tom" play without a skip, except between the first and the second acts, when the door was cleared for a three-round cuffing bout between Jackson and Czaykowski. It was a tame bout, and those who had seen Corbett feel that when the California meets Jackson he will be fun with him, as he did with Sullivan and Mitchell. That was the way it looked to the people in the ring. Jackson says he is ready to go against Corbett and when the date is fixed he will be in the ring. The purse will be $10,000. Jackson and the company left for St. Louis Sunday morning.
Papa Davis was not in Decatur Saturday night.

Mr. Mansfield To Night.
To-night this city is to enjoy the privilege of seeing Mr. Richard Mansfield.
There is possibly not a man, woman or child in Decatur who has not heard of this great actor. Not to know him is to confess yourself unknown. For the last ten years his name has been almost a household word, and his art, and the revolution he has effected in his art has been discussed by the public prints almost as a museum. Richard Mansfield is neither a comedian or a tragedian, he is simply a great actor—who makes you feel who always you and stir you at will.
No city is great and fine, unless like Athens and Rome, it appreciates high art, and Richard Mansfield will discover to-night that, although we are neither as great nor as famous as the ancient capitals of Greece and Rome, we are not one whit behind-hand in keen appreciation of all that is best in art.

Mr. Mansfield will present his famous comedy of manners, "Beau Brummel."
This play is undoubtedly the greatest of Mansfield's many successes, and will be presented here by special request.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

Personal Work of Dr. Chapman Will End Wednesday Night.

The Baptist Church Crowded to Hear the Evangelist Last Evening.

On Monday the Dr. Chapman meetings were held at the Baptist church, owing to the fact that the Grand had been previously taken for the Richard Mansfield engagement. This afternoon and to-night, and the meetings for Wednesday will be held at the Grand at the usual hours.

Dr. Chapman held services at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon,
taking for his text Galatians i, 18.

At the night meeting at the Baptist church, which was crowded to the doors.
Dr. Chapman took Matthew xxi, part of the twelfth verse. "How Comest thou hither?" He said in substance:

I know more about heaven and had a better conception of the one awaiting us there, we would be very much dissatisfied with our present existence. We are told that it is a place up in the sky; a place without sin, without a tear, a place of mansions and unspeakable glory. We are also told that hell is a bottomless pit, a place of unquenchable fires. I do not believe in the literal fires of hell any more than I believe that the streets of heaven are paved with gold.

I can think of two things that would give a preacher a marvelous power—a vision of Jesus Christ and a vision of the lost world. A Universalist said to me: "If I believed what you do about future punishment I could not eat or sleep or have any rest on this earth."
I only have this idea of the lost world. Nothing could be worse, no punishment could be greater than to be away from God. When Moody and Stanley were conducting meetings in London a body of persons organized themselves into what they called the "Hell Fire Club." Their leader became converted and in relating his experience said that he had a dream that he went to hell and saw a number of his old friends seated at a table playing some sort of game which was apparently endless. Finally he asked one of them: Lady —, why don't you rest awhile? With a look of unspeakable agony she replied:
"There is no rest in hell." Oh sinners,
there is no rest in hell. To be away from God, away from Christ, away from everything that satisfies the longings of the soul. What greater punishment could there be? To sit alone with my memory is torment enough for me. To think in solemn silence over the sins of my past life is torture great enough.
God has warned us and it we go there we must go over every obstacle he has thrown in our path, heedless of the danger ahead and warn us to keep back.
"How comest thou in hither?" Oh, my friends if you are found in the lost world
it will be because you go over this wonderful, blessed book, which has stood unshaken for centuries; over the spirit of God which has stirred in your heart and urged you to keep back; over the cross of God wherein he only Son died,
and over the prayers of your friends.
Lay hold upon eternal life while it is yet
day. Come now.

"Jewels" was the topic of Dr. Chapman's address at the workers' meeting

this morning.

"The Days in Heaven."

Button for Alderman.

Mr. Alex H. Sutton is formally announced to-day as a candidate for alde-man in the First Ward, subject to the decision of the Republican ward primary.

Mr. Sutton resides on Water street at the corner of Marietta, and his Republicanism and public spirit are so well known that it is not necessary to refer to him personally, except to say that he is a representative citizen who would be a very useful member of the council. He will go into the primary with the support of an army of earnest workers, and if his name is placed on the ticket he will be elected by a big majority.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, March 19, 1894.

Republican senators who have heretofore conceded the probability of the ultimate success of the Democrats in passing some sort of a tariff bill now consider that they have at least an even chance to defeat the bill. Although the committee has decided that the bill shall be reported to the Senate this week and taken up for consideration April 2—by the way, that date represents a substantial victory for the Republicans of the committee—it is known that not a single one of the ten Democratic senators who style themselves "Conservatives," and are styled "Kickers" by the other Democrats, has promised to support the bill,

notwithstanding the numerous concessions made to them by the Democrats of the committee, and some of them will, it is believed, vote against the entire bill,

unless they can get it amended to suit their demands. Instead of the changes made in the bill by the Democrats of the Senate committee, most of them against their will, lessening the Democratic opposition to the bill, they have increased

it. The free traders have been offended and not a single "Kicker" has been propriated.

Many shrewd observers believe that upon the disposition which Mr. Cleveland makes of the Bland bill for the coinage of the sovereign dollar depends the very existence of the Democratic party as at present constituted. At least three members of the cabinet—Gresham, Smith

and Herbert—are so certain that the veto

of the bill would be followed by an open split of the Democratic party that they are doing their best to persuade Mr.

Cleaveland to sign the bill; as a peace offering to the silver Democrats in the south and west who are disgruntled because of the numerous snubs they have received at the hands of the administration. Representative Straus, of New

COLORADO MUDDLE.

The Contest Case Submitted to the Supreme Court.

EXCITING TILT BETWEEN ATTORNEYS.

The Recall of the Militia from Cripple Creek Meets with a Stormy Protest from Prominent Citizens of That Place.

The Colorado Contest Case in the Supreme Court.

DENVER, Colo., March 20.—The contest over two petty offices that involves the duties and rights of Gov. Waite as he construes them, and that involves the question of succession to Hon. Edward G. Walcott, United States senator, came before the supreme court yesterday afternoon. Attorney F. M. Taylor, representing Martin, filed a personal communication, which explains the reason why an injunction was asked for in the district court to restrain the governor from using force to expel Martin and Orr from office. It renewed the request for an inquiry as to the rights of the governor to call out the militia, and concluded that should the court judicially determine the issue adversely to Martin and Orr, they would be advised to abide by the opinion of the court.

The hearing, while a solemn occasion, as the governor's plea recites, was interspersed by many informal queries propounded by each of the three justices and cross-interrogatories between counsel. Several times statements were made that provoked the mirth of the large audience beyond restraint, and even the solemn judges relaxed their judicial decorum for brief moments.

It was admitted by inference that the chief executive of Colorado was erratic and peculiar and his vagaries were most uncertain at times, and the lawyers for Gov. Waite refused to discuss his right to call out the militia. Mr. Taylor suggested that it is the first time in the history of the country that a contest over petty offices was dignified by reason of the fact that the chief executive had exercised a peculiar right and had brought it before the supreme court upon the plea of a solemn occasion. He asked the court not to answer the governor's question but permit it to go through the accustomed channels of law. He contended that the function of the governor ended with the appointment of officials.

Gov. Waite's attorneys disclaimed ever advising Gov. Waite upon the matter of calling out the troops, but argued that the present steps were the only means of averting disaster to public peace and good order. Under the ruling of the supreme court in a similar case they argued that the governor had the right to remove and that there should not have been resistance of those rights when exercised within the scope of the authority vested in him.

The court will require a number of days to prepare a decision as several very serious questions are involved besides that of the simple reply to the question whether Martin and Orr or Barnes and Mullins are entitled to certain municipal offices in the city of Denver.

An Exciting Tilt in the Criminal Court.

DENVER, Colo., March 19.—A most exciting tilt between attorneys occurred in the West Side criminal court yesterday morning, when the application for arrest for contempt of court came for hearing before Judge Glynn.

Last week attorneys for Martin and Orr, the deposed members of the fire and police board, secured an injunction in the district court against Gov. Waite, Mayor Van Horne, and the new members, Barnes and Mullins, to prevent them from using force to take possession of their offices.

The interrogators pronounced before Judge Glynn omitted Gov. Waite, and Platte Rogers, attorney for the governor demanded that the governor be cited to appear. He proposed to have the writ enforced as to the governor, and thus bring up the entire question whether Judge Graham had exceeded his authority in enjoining the governor. His remarks incensed both the court and the opposing counsel, and an exciting colloquy ensued. As in the supreme court hearing later in the day, so Mr. Rogers asserted that overtures for peaceable solution had been refused on the exciting Thursday of last week, and this statement was flatly denied by the opposing counsel. The court postponed the hearing until to-day.

The Recall of the Militia from Cripple Creek.

DENVER, Colo., March 20.—The decision of Gov. Waite yesterday morning to recall the militia from Cripple Creek was received with general satisfaction here. It is believed that the sheriff will now be able to preserve order in the camp. Gen. Tarsney, the governor by telephone that there appeared to be no disorder in the camp, and that no one had resisted the sheriff's deputies when papers were properly served.

The Tariit Bill Laid Before the Full Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The democratic members of the committee agreed during yesterday afternoon on the sugar schedule, and a revised copy of the bill was sent to the printer. The schedule remains as previously indicated, the only change being in the direction of clearness. The amended bill will be laid before the full committee at 10 o'clock this morning.

The withdrawal of the troops from Cripple Creek now leaves the situation just as it was, in the hands of the sheriff and his deputies. That he will proceed to arrest the men against whom warrants have been issued is assured. The charges against these men are violating the order of the courts, compelling property and restraining persons who are satisfied with the wages offered from going to work elsewhere.

The Fugitive Police Justice.

NEW YORK, March 19.—An afternoon paper says that a telegram has been received by a friend of Police Justice Mathewson, who is a fugitive from justice, that he is at Nassau, Bahama.

A Protest Against the Recall of the Troops.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., March 20.—Gen. Brooks and staff left for Altman at 8:45 to personally visit the disaffected district. The feeling at Altman is decidedly antagonistic and all mines are under guard, and it is said that the Victor mine will never be allowed to start up without trouble. There is a general feeling in Cripple Creek that the trouble is not ended. A special committee is now en route to Denver to protest to Gov. Waite against the removal of the troops. This was the result of the meeting of business men held at the palace hotel during the afternoon. The report that the governor had ordered the removal of the troops had caused great indignation.

ARMY OF THE COMMONWEAL.

Arrangement for Its March Rapidly Assuming Completion.

MASILLON, O., March 19.—Arrangements for the departure of the "Commonweal" are being gradually completed, and by Thursday the entire programme will be complete. Tents for the organization meeting will be put on the grounds of the gun club Saturday. Meetings are announced for every evening, excepting Wednesday, and on Saturday afternoon a monster demonstration will take place. Commander Coxey does not care for weather changes, and will soon move regardless of them.

Lieut. Browne has arranged at least a dozen songs on pertinent topics, set to popular airs, for use in the army. They will be sung on the march and at meetings held on the way. Inquiries from western points show greatly increased manifestations of interest. A Burlington (Ia.) dispatch tells of 175 men of that city who have applied for railroad passes for the starting places. The index of out-of-town sympathizers is not expected to begin until Thursday.

Sheriff Doll stated yesterday that he would call out four companies of the eighth regiment of the state militia to suppress any disturbance that might be made by the commonwealers if they appeared in large force. The four companies muster 150 men. Their headquarters are in Canton. The sheriff does not anticipate any trouble. In fact he expresses doubt as to the starting of the army.

HE TESTIFIED UNDER PROTEST

And Knocked His Client's Case All Into Pl.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 20.—The trial of Stonewall J. DeFrance for swindling a local bank out of $5,000 by means of a forged draft, took a sensational turn yesterday, and the alibi which DeFrance sought to establish last week was completely knocked out by the testimony of Cornelius W. Beck, ex-assistant prosecuting attorney of Detroit.

Last week Thaddeus, James and John Galvin swore they executed contracts for a loan with DeFrance at their foundry in Detroit, November 21, 1891, two days before the forged draft was passed in Kalamazoo, and William Peabody swore he gave DeFrance a note for $300 in Detroit the same day. These witnesses swore positively that the contract and note were executed on the day they are dated. Mr. Britt yesterday testified under protest—as he had been DeFrance's attorney—that he first saw the Galvin contracts last January; that he drew them in January himself, and that he signed DeFrance's name to them. He gave the Galvin contracts to DeFrance about January 13, 1891. He did not get the Galvin signatures to the contracts. He swore that the Peabody note bore a wrong date, as it was executed in January, 1894.

A Highly Inflammatory Publication.

TOKIO, Kan., March 20.—All the state officers yesterday received a copy of the Kansas Commoner, a populist paper, containing a marked article, which is regarded as most revolutionary in its tone. The article reads in part as follows:

Carlsite is reported as secretly negotiating with a Lombard street syndicate for the sale of $500,000 more bonds. The nation demands that the state of Illinois shall not issue its bonds without the issue of bonds and that people will stop this bad business without gold or bullet. Let our rulers make their choice and make it soon. If Secretary Carlsite dares to make another issue of $500,000,000 of gold bonds not banded thousand but a million men should go to Washington, not with paper petition but with steel Winchester.

The circulation of the paper containing this article has created a sensation in official circles and it is regarded as the most inflammatory of any declaration yet made by any popularist. As in the supreme court hearing later in the day, so Mr. Rogers asserted that overtures for peaceable solution had been refused on the exciting Thursday of last week, and this statement was flatly denied by the opposing counsel. The court postponed the hearing until to-day.

MADKLINE AT BAY.

The Victim Repays with Interest Some of the Agony Imposed Upon Her by Her Destroyer.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—This was the most important and to the lovers of scandal the most interesting day in the now famous breach-of-promise case of Pollard vs. Breckinridge. Miss Pollard still occupied the stand, and for the greater part of the day was subjected to a most rigid cross-examination by the astute Benjamin Butterfield, for whom, however, she proved more than a match.

On the whole the day's proceedings and testimony, although conducted in behalf of the defendant, was very damaging to his case and wholly disgraceful to his character as a man, and it now looks as though his questionable attempt to shield himself behind the inactivity of the innocent girl he ruined would prove a miserable failure.

She told with seeming frankness, though sometimes through tears, the story of her sad life and the sadder story of her betrayal by the man whose dulcet tones and venerable appearance at once disarmed her fears and won her confidence only to betray it.

The testimony in detail, necessary as it is to lay bare the truth and secure the ends of justice, is unfit for publication in a respectable newspaper. One important fact made plain is that while Col. Breckinridge seems to have made no effort to conceal his unfaithfulness to his former wives, he also continued his illicit intercourse with his victim for weeks after his marriage to Mrs. Wing last April.

Gen. Gresham Was Shot.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Maj. Chas. H. Hill, of this city, in reply to a communication bearing on the subject, declares that it has been proven that Gen. Gresham was shot in a fierce battle with the Stewart division of the confederate army.

DOLE TO WILLS.

Further Hawaiian Correspondence Submitted to Congress by the President.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The president sent a brief message of transmission to Congress to fix some additional correspondence between Minister Willis and I. D. L. at Dole in Honolulu.

The correspondence is mainly of an explanatory character. Mr. Willis speaks of it as the final correspondence touching the attitude of the diplomatic agent of the United States in regard to the use of force.

On the 14th of February (Valentine's day) Mr. Willis informed President Dole that he had been advised by his government that his special instructions had been fully complied with.

On the same day President Dole addressed a lengthy letter of explanation to Mr. Willis in the course of which he says:

It has not been my desire in any of my letters in this connection to put upon you exclusively the sole responsibility for the matters under discussion as the correspondence will show and to assure you of my sincere appreciation of the nature of your reply to my letter of specification and to join with you in the express hope that there may be a speedy honorable and satisfactory adjustment of all pending questions.

In closing I hope you will understand that I have never intended to put upon you exclusively the sole responsibility for the matters under discussion as the correspondence will show and to assure you of my sincere appreciation of the nature of your reply to my letter of specification and to join with you in the express hope that there may be a speedy honorable and satisfactory adjustment of all pending questions.

CYCLONES IN TEXAS.

The State Swept by a Succession of Violent Storms.

A NEGRO VILLAGE BLOWN QUITE AWAY

Heavy Loss of Life and Destruction of Property.—The Victims Suffering for Actual Necessaries.—The Heaviest Rainfall Ever Witnessed.

The Heaviest Rainfall Ever Witnessed.

LUFKIN, Tex., March 19.—Yesterday about 9 o'clock a destructive cyclone struck this section and laid bare everything in its path, and about a dozen farmhouses within three miles of this place were completely demolished and a number of people narrowly escaped with their lives. Every tree, fence and other obstacle in the path of the storm was torn up and the roads in various directions are blocked and it is almost impossible to travel on horseback.

The path of yesterday's storm at this place was nearly a mile wide.

Again this morning about 5:30 o'clock the cyclone struck the edge of town and three houses were wrecked and their contents scattered over the country a distance of a mile or two. Several persons were seriously injured, but none fatally.

It is reported here that a house was blown down and a man killed at Emory ten miles below here, but information is very meager.

The people in the storm's path are in a deplorable condition, and their household goods either scattered out of reach or entirely destroyed, and they have no shelter from the downpour of rain which has been falling all day. To day it is impossible to get anywhere near the ruined houses with a team. Huge pine trees, some of them several feet in circumference, were broken and twisted as if they were straws.

The actual damage to property and stock in this immediate vicinity will reach several thousand dollars. No wagons are reported on the roads although the rainfall is the heaviest ever witnessed here.

During a performance in a theater at Lucia in the Bahia province of that name Sunday evening a gentleman upon entering a cyclone passed through this country, and this morning a tornado traversed a wide scope of country. Rain has been falling in sheets so that communication with the stricken section has been suspended and only meager details are obtainable.

Every house in the White Oak negro colony was blown away and several cows and cattle were killed. In the Grimes neighborhood, nine miles north of here, there is not a house or fence left intact. Mr. Grimes was killed and his wife, who was confined to her bed, received fatal injuries. Her babe a few days old escaped injury.

This morning a cyclone began operations two miles east of here wrecking all the houses in the McGinnis mill settlement. The corpse of a young lady who died last night was mingled beyond recognition. Seven of the inmates of the house were fatally injured. Jake Ballinger, a old blind man, was killed by flying timbers. Relief committees have been organized to go from here.

It is reported that Holland in Bell county, and Lattell in Williamson county were wiped out but no authentic news is yet obtainable from these places as the wires are down.

Storms of Unparalleled Severity.

DALLAS, Tex., March 19.—The storms which swept over northern Texas to night yesterday and last night and which are prevailing today are unparalleled in severity. The death toll will reach twenty and the list of injured over 100. At Emory, the county seat of Jones county, the cyclone knocked the town nearly out of existence. There were many other towns visited and badly damaged.

Mayor Berry has called on Dallas' citizens for contributions to relieve the sufferers many of whom have been ruined and mourn the loss of members of their families.

Last night an electric storm followed by a miniature deluge of rain to day, fell upon Dallas and all the counties around us. No breaks in any of the railroads have yet been reported, but it is nearly certain many will occur. The river in front of the city is rapidly rising.

American War Ships Ordered Away from Rio.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Secretary Herbert has ordered all the American war ships away from Rio. The New York will go to St. Lucia West Indies, there to await further instructions by cable from the navy department. The Charleston will go to Montevideo to join the Newark.

These orders were dispatched on receipt of the following telegram from Capt. Philip commanding the Charleston:

Rio March 19.

Rio harbor is clear of foreign men of war except the New York and Charleston. Today the Detroit will sail for Hampton Roads.

The Portuguese vessel was the last to leave. It is reported that Da Gama was a passenger on her.

The fever is increasing and the British government has ordered that no American vessel will touch at Rio.

It does not appear that there remains any further necessity for keeping an American man of war here as the insurrection has been put down and a longer stay of the vessels would be injurious.

TO LOCATE BULLETS.

The Greatest Surgical Discovery of the Century.

The Human Body Used as a Conductor by an Electric Probe Which Works on Principles Alike to Those of the Telephone.

The development of electrical science in recent years has done much to revolutionize medical and surgical methods. It will therefore not surprise many people to learn that it has stepped in to supplant the Nelaton probe. But it will surprise even electrical men to learn of the absolute uniqueness of the method by which this has been accomplished.

The Nelaton probe was named after the great French surgeon who invented it. It was called in to treat Garibaldi, who had a bullet in his body. Nelaton was unable to locate it and the Italian patriot's life was despaired of. Nelaton sat up one whole night thinking.

It finally occurred to him to use an ordinary probe with a smooth, round piece of porcelain on the end. By inserting it in the wound he hoped to get the lead markings on the white piece of porcelain, showing where the bullet lay.

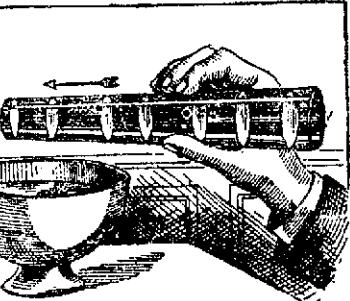

To think was to act, and on the next day the experiment was tried. Sure enough, when the probe was inserted and removed lead markings were found on the bulb of the probe. The bullet was located and Garibaldi was saved.

The new probe is an electrical affair. It consists of an ordinary telephone receiver, an ordinary metal probe

SCIENCE AT HOME.

Interesting Experiment on the Tension of Liquid Films.

Take a lamp chimney of conical form, that is to say, wider at the bottom than at the top, wet the interior with soap-suds, and then drain in order to get rid of the liquid in excess. Then, holding the chimney upright, dip the wide end in the soapsuds. Upon removing it, it will be found that, toward this extremity, a film of soapsuds has formed in the interior. Now place the chimney horizontally, and the liquid film will be observed to set itself in motion, and in a moment reach the narrow extremity of the glass. This phenomenon is due to the elastic tension of the film, which might be compared to a distended membrane of rubber, which contracts as soon as the traction upon its edges diminishes. Now here the traction becomes feebler and feebler in proportion as the diameter of the glass diminishes. Instead of a single film, a second may be formed as soon as the first has moved a slight distance from the wide end of the chimney, and then successively as many films as may be desired. All will be observed to set themselves in motion and travel toward the narrow end, as if they were chasing one another.—L'Illustration.

THE WORLD OF SCIENCE.

The average speed of the transmission of earthquake shocks is nearly 16,000 feet per second.

It is reported that the Egyptian government had decided to authorize the construction of a system of electric tramways in Cairo.

An ingenious Yankee proposes to place a big searchlight on the Canadian side of the Niagara river and project advertising announcements on the American falls.

During the yellow fever epidemic at Brunswick, Ga., there were 1,693 cases, 322 being white, 680 negro and one Chinese. There were 56 deaths, of which 42 were whites.

MINISTER McDONALD, at Teheran, has notified the state department that there has been an increase in the number of cases of cholera in Persia, the maximum probably reaching 100 per day.

Liquor chlorine is now being prepared on a large scale in Europe for use in chemical work. The gas is liquefied by a special form of pump and is kept and transported in iron or steel cylinders.

The cave animals of North America, according to Prof. A. S. Packard, of Boston university, comprise 172 species of blind animals, nearly all of which are mostly white in color.

Dr. NICATSY, of St. Petersburg, attributes the form of birds' eggs to gravity. He thinks that every egg not yet coated with a solid shell departs from the spherical form and elongates, simply because of pressure on it by the walls of the ovary.

The grip, which reached Unalaska a couple of months ago for the first time in its erratic travels, is now very prevalent among the Indians of northern Vancouver island. Nearly all the villages are severely afflicted and a number of the white missionaries are down with the disease.

EXPOSURE TO LIGHT.

How it Affects Oysters and Other Deep Sea Inhabitants.

At a recent meeting of the Academy of Natural Sciences, Philadelphia, Prof. John A. Rydor spoke of the effect on oysters of exposure to light. He referred to recent observations of Dr. Scheidt on the pigmentation of these mollusks under abnormal conditions. The right valve of the shell, having been removed, the oysters were kept in a trough of running salt water. In fourteen days they showed a pronounced blackening of the entire right mantle, where normally there is no pigment, and this was again bleached when excluded from the light. Other specimens which were guarded from the direct action of the light remained uncolored, thus demonstrating that light is the active agent in producing the deposit of pigment granules. Blue glass was found to stimulate coloring, while red glass had the opposite effect.

Prof. RENALD H. Sharp remarked that a common species of flounder, Aclinus lineatus, commonly called the hog choker, has the underside almost if not quite as strongly colored as the upper side, thus differing materially from the other species of this group of fishes.

Correspondingly it was found that its habits were so modified that the lower part of the fish was frequently exposed as to be acted on by the light and not kept in contact with the rocks and not in contact with the rocks and in all forms.

The invention of this instrument has created quite a furor among surgeons. It has been adopted as a standard in the United States army and navy. The surgeon general of the army and the surgeon general of the navy, whose experiments was the report that the principle of the instrument was the only one that should be recognized by military surgical men. Dr. Stephen Smith, well known in army circles, said it was the greatest advance that had been made in military surgery in one hundred years.

Dr. Joseph D. Bryant, President Cleveland's family physician, says it "bears the same relation to gunshot wounds that physical diagnosis does to diseases of the lungs, or that the microscope does to microscopic diseases."

The instrument has just been adopted as a standard in the German army and when the Nictheroy steamed southward she carried such instruments in anticipation of their possible usefulness.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Some idea of the injury, the return of the Democrats to power, has worked to the American farmers home. Market may be gained from the fact as developed by the Bureau of Statistics which show that during the eight months ended Feb 28 the exports of barley were 4,043,106 bushels, as against 1,550,518 during the corresponding period of the previous year. The exports of corn have increased from 26,984,471 to 43,335,833 bushels, oats from 7,302,228 to 5,517,197 bushels, oat-meal from 3,385,922 to 6,835,684 pounds, and wheat flour from 11,151,521 to 11,277,919. This increased exportation is largely due to the destruction of the power of the American people to consume what they did in 1892. The same statistics show a wonderful decrease in price between the last and preceding year. For example, the returns by barrels of the export of flour shows an increase. The returns by values

TUESDAY EVE., MARCH 10, 1894.

The Toledo Blade thinks that "from what the Chicago Herald says, the vast majority of Democrats who want office in that city should be in jail or prison."

It was a favorite expression of Democratic campaigners, in 1892, that the country was prosperous in spite of the Republican party. It does not now seem to be prosperous in spite of the Democratic party. Prosperity is too coy a maiden for that.

At the rate things are going, it will be more than ten thousand years before the Democratic party can restore the prosperity of the country to where it was in the year of 1892, to say nothing of making the country more prosperous as they promised to make it if given power.

One of the morning papers has a good deal to say about the indications in the Democratic township convention of a resurrection of the Democratic party. It has also been remarked, by some who were present, that the best evidence they saw of the resurrection was the "spirits."

The Democratic end of the finance committee is still at work trying to fix the Wilson bill so as to obviate the dangerous inconsistencies it contains, while the Republicans pointed out to them, They worked at it all day Sunday, and they now think they will be able to get it in shape to introduce in the senate by Wednesday or Thursday of this week.

As BETWEEN the promises made the New York bankers, that no silver legislation would be permitted to pass, in case they took the bonds the government was forced to sell to secure money to defray its running expenses, and the promises made the silver wing of the Democratic party at the time of the repeal of the silver purchase act, Cleveland and Carlisle are in as unfortunate a dilemma as the Democratic party is in on account of its promise that if the party came into power it would better the condition of the workingmen.

All the window glass workers at Pendleton, Indiana, have signed and sent in a remonstrance against the passage of the Wilson bill. Every such remonstrance amounts to an appeal from the workingmen to the Democratic party not to ruin them. Had the workingmen suspected, during the campaign of 1892, when the Democrats were professing great friendship for labor, that they were the enemies of labor, Mr. Cleveland would not have been elected. What the workingmen want now is an election, and the first chance they will have in Illinois to make themselves felt will be at the polls in the township election.

The latest statistical bulletin, from the Agricultural department at Washington, is a little hard on the asses, who, to excuse the low price of farm products are going about saying it is due to over production. This bulletin shows that in 1893 there were 119,817,000 bushels less wheat produced in the United States than in 1892 and yet wheat never was so low as it has been since the crop of 1893 came into the market. Wheat, like live stock and other farm products, was made low by the destruction of the power of the American consumer to consume. Too many men have lost their jobs or had their wages reduced since the Democrats came into power to keep up the farmer's home market, which is based on the power of the non-producer of farm products to consume it.

The spring elections in the state are mighty important to both political parties and the people in general. If the Democrats can manage to keep down the Republican majorities to where they were in 1892, and keep up their own to the same figures, they will upon that claim the state in November. But on the other hand, if the Republicans can show gains anything near like the gains in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, the battle of November will be practically won. No Republican can afford therefore to give the enemy comfort in the spring elections, under any consideration, and every voter who wants to restore things to where they were in 1892 ought to begin at the spring election, or else abandon entirely his desire to vote in his own interest and for prosperity.

Some idea of the injury, the return of the Democrats to power, has worked to the American farmers home. Market may be gained from the fact as developed by the Bureau of Statistics which show that during the eight months ended Feb 28 the exports of barley were 4,043,106 bushels, as against 1,550,518 during the corresponding period of the previous year. "MARCH to search" is the old adage.
It searches out any weakness of the system, resulting from impure blood. Those who use Ayer's Sarsaparilla find March

A Gas Fight.

Springfield has been having a cheap
gas war, and there is a prospect that before the year is out a similar fight will be inaugurated in Decatur. Such a decision was made in the city yesterday by one of the possible promoters of the war. A new company will be formed to manufacture gas and the party speaking for the new organization asserts that if a franchise can be secured from the city council, cheaper gas will be supplied.
